RE C00366666 October Monthly Report

The Committee properly discloses payments for administrative expenses on its reports to the Commission. As we have explained before, the Committee does not incur significant operating and administrative expenses and, therefore, does not have many to report. For example, the Committee does not have rented office space so there are no utilities or telephone service payments. A post-office box is used for receiving mail. The Committee's reports throughout the year disclose payments to an accountant who processes contributions, deposits funds, pays expenses, prepares FEC reports, and handles other day-to-day items for the Committee. She charges a fee for her services plus expenses. In addition, on this Report, the Committee made payments to a fundraising consultant and to a law firm for legal expenses.
Sincerely, Tanya Prescott, Treasurer
