

This Form 99 is in reference to an RFAI that Dickstein Shapiro LLP PAC received on 09/05/2007. The RFAI seeks clarification for entries of $219.53 regarding in-kind administrative costs provided by the Firm (disclosed on lines 17 and 21b of the 2007 Mid Year Report). After an internal review of Firm and PAC practices, resulting in a variety of amendments reflected on two Form 99's dated 07/25/2007, we now are tracking and reporting in-kind legal and accounting services separately in an FEC Form 3X memo entry. The remaining in-kind services provided by the Firm (reported as administrative costs) represent the very limited staff time, overhead, supplies, and postage associated with other functions, such as raising funds for the PAC. No separate staff or office space is available for PAC administrative functions, and almost all communication is via Internet. Thus, the resulting administrative costs are minimal.
