The Commission's regulations concerning the reporting of contributor information for earmarked contributions received by conduits at 11 CFR Sec. 110.6(c)(iv)(A) states that Schedule A should only provide employer and occupation information if the amount of an earmarked contribution is in excess of $200. The text of the regulation is as follows: 'The name and mailing address of each contributor and, for each earmarked contribution in excess of $200, the contributor's occupation and the name of his or her employer.' Therefore, employer and occupation information for contributors who make contributions to authorized candidates in amounts less than $200 is not required.
