In May of 2010, employees in UnitedHealth Groups (UHG) accounting department discovered in the course of performing the monthly reconciliation of the UnitedHealth Group Incorporated PAC (UHG Federal PAC) bank account that they had erroneously transferred funds from a corporate cash account in the amount of $15,000 to the UHG Federal PAC bank account.

Upon learning of the erroneous transfer from the accounting department, the UHG Federal PAC administrator immediately took steps to return funds from the UHG Federal PACs account to the corporation via check, and contacted the FEC analyst assigned to the UHG Federal PAC to determine how to report these transactions.

At all times in which the erroneously-transferred funds where held in the UHG Federal PACs account, there were sufficient funds in the UHG Federal PAC account contributed by individual employees of UHG and its affiliates and subsidiaries to fund the contributions made to federal officeholders, candidates, and other PACs without making use of the $15,000 transferred from the UHG corporate account. As such, no corporate funds were used to make contributions from the UHG Federal PAC to federal officeholders, candidates, or PACs. UHG Federal PAC legal counsel has addressed the seriousness of this issue with the employee involved in the erroneous transfer.

The erroneous transfer from UHG to the UHG Federal PAC and the return of those funds are reflected in the UHG Federal PACs FEC report for the Second Quarter of 2010 (filer ID #C00274431).
