1) The Commission's regulations concerning the reporting of contributor information for earmarked contributions received by conduits at 11 CFR Sec.110.6(c)(IV)(A) states that Schedule A should only provide employer and occupation information if the amount of an earmark is in excess of $200. Employer and occupation information for contributors who make contributions to authorized candidates in amounts less than $200 is not required. 2) The Commission's regulations do not prohibit a conduit from forwarding an earmarked contribution after a general election. The regulations specify the date of a contribution for election designation purposes is the date a contributor relinquishes a contribution, not the date a conduit forwards it. Contributions for a general election may be received after an election if the recipient committee has sufficient debt to permit acceptance. Due to the tragic circumstance that resulted in Senator Wellstone's not being a general election candidate, the Committee determined the appropriate action was to forward earmarked contributions to the campaign within the required 10 day period and permit the campaign to determine to accept or return. This is not inconsistent with the Commission's regulations at 11 CFR Sec.110.1(b)(3).
