There is a growing awareness of the need to address the health care needs of the elderly population. The Department of Health (2000) has set out a strategy for the NHS to meet the needs of the elderly population. This strategy is based on the following principles:

- To ensure that the NHS is able to meet the needs of the elderly population.
- To ensure that the NHS is able to provide a high quality of care for the elderly population.
- To ensure that the NHS is able to provide a range of services to meet the needs of the elderly population.

The NHS is currently facing a number of challenges in meeting these objectives. These challenges include:

- A growing elderly population.
- A growing number of people with long-term conditions.
- A growing number of people with mental health problems.
- A growing number of people with physical disabilities.
