

I failed to file the July, 2010, quarterly report by the due date (it simply got by me). On July 16 I recieved notice that a report was due. In my haste to get the report done I inadvertently deleted all the 2009 and 2010 reports then on my computer. Thus, the report I did file on July 16 was inaccurate. Because of the complexity of recovering the deleted files it took a very long time. That was finally accomplished October 4. The reports are complete and accurate. October 5 I filed the October Quarterly report. It is not only accurate, but early!
