Attn. Ms. Debbie Manzano
Senior Reports Analyst
Reports Analysis Division

Dear Ms. Manzano:

In response to your letter dated June 3rd, 1998, I have submitted for your review an amended report for the year end 1997 for Victory '97.

1. Calculations for Line 6 (d) Columns A and B have been revised and corrected.

2. Schedule A has been revised to reflect the correct contributions and amounts. The items you have indicated as incorrect have been moved to the correct line (15) Offsets to operating expenditures.

3. 1293 Clove Road has now been corrected to reflect it as a Partnership, and not a corporation.

4. Receipt from the New York State Republican Committee for ($25,000.00) was received via a wire transfer to the Victory '97 Federal Account #33429727. (See Attached).

5. "Committee Best Efforts" attached are letters requesting occupation information that were sent on or about October of 1997. A second request will be made by mail for this information and will be forwarded to you.

6. Victory '97 maintains two separate accounts and Federal Account # 33429727, and a Non-Federal Account # 95015642. At no time were the account funds commingled, and there were absolutely no transfers between accounts. (See Attached).

7. Addresses have been placed in the appropriate locations as you requested. (See Attached)

8. I have enclosed for your convenience a print out of the transactions for Federal Account Disbursements and Deposits. These print outs will assist you in Category and Event-Year-To-Date information. It will also assist you in deciphering my handwriting.

I am sorry that it has take me so long to get this amended report to you. Your assistance has been very helpful, and most appreciated. The amended April report will follow in a few days. Should you require additional information, please contact me at (212) 676-6290 during the day, or (718) 447-4735 in the evening. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Michael J. Attisano,
Treasurer, Victory '97

Ms. Mary Catherine Farrell

Staten Island, New York 10304

Dear Ms. Farrell:

Thank you for your generous contribution to Victory '97. Your contribution will go a long way in helping us get our message out to the voters and elect "Our Winning Team."

Our mayor, borough president, and our city councilman, have brought about historic reductions in crime, enacted real welfare reform, cut taxes, balanced the city budget, abolished the fare on the Staten Island Ferry, and most importantly reduced the toll for Staten Island residents on the Verrazzano Bridge and lead the fight to close the Landfill.

What we need locally and nationally is leadership that will continue the fight to lower taxes, reduce the size of government, and keep criminals in jail where they belong. We need to elect our "Republican Team" to finish the job that they started.

On Tuesday, November 4, send a strong message that the liberal Democrats will understand: vote the Republican Team— "Our Winning Team." Vote "ROW B" from top to bottom.

Sincerely,

Olga Igneri

Our mayor, borough president, and our city councilman, have brought about historic reductions in crime, enacted real welfare reform, cut taxes, balanced the city budget, abolished the fare on the Staten Island Ferry, and most importantly reduced the toll for Staten Island residents on the Verrazzano Bridge and lead the fight to close the Landfill.

What we need locally and nationally is leadership that will continue the fight to lower taxes, reduce the size of government, and keep criminals in jail where they belong. We need to elect our "Republican Team" to finish the job that they started.

On Tuesday, November 4, send a strong message that the liberal Democrats will understand: vote the Republican Team– "Our Winning Team." Vote "ROW B" from top to bottom.

Sincerely,

Olga Igneri
Chairwoman

Surprise merger; positive for acquirer

An unexpected turn of events is a positive for Allied Waste.

It was not a surprise American Disposal Services Inc. announced a merger only a week after the effective date it could begin employing the pooling-of-interests accounting method for acquisitions. The surprise was that American Disposal was being acquired, and was not the acquirer.

We shared the popular view that American Disposal would emerge as one of the survivors of the anticipated consolidation of small- and mid-cap solid waste companies. However, it was the first to sell. Nevertheless, we believe the announced transaction (which calls for Allied Waste Industries Inc. to acquire American Disposal) is positive for Allied Waste. The stated goal for the combined entity is to work together to become the industry's second largest company.

Our $1.23 1999 EPS estimate offers upside.

Estimates raised, rating unchanged

We have raised our estimates for Allied. Our 1999 EPS estimate for the post-merger Allied is $1.23, up from a premerger $1.17. Greater-than-assumed acquisition growth next year, as discussed below, provides upside to our estimate.

Results for 1998 will be affected by an earnings restatement for the combined company fusing the pooling-of-interests method of accounting. On a historical basis, we believe the transaction will be dilutive, and that restated EPS results will be reported in a range of $0.85 to $0.90, depending on the savings level achieved in the December (fourth) quarter and the amount of transaction-related costs that are capitalized. On a pro forma basis, assuming the acquisition was completed Jan. 1 and the anticipated $24.5 million acquisition savings rate achieved, our EPS estimate would be $0.95.

Market reaction similar to reactions to (former) USA Waste merger announcements.

Although we believe the decline in Allied Waste's stock creates a short-term buying opportunity, we've chosen not to raise the stock's rating (accumulate). The market's response, accentuated by weakness in the overall market, reminds us of the stock declines the former USA Waste Services Inc. (now Waste Management Inc., WMI: $52.81) incurred each time it announced acquisition of a large, publicly traded company. Chambers, Sanifill, Western Waste, and Onyx Waste. (The significant exception is the recent merger with the old Waste Management Inc.) As we believe USA Waste subsequently proved each deal was a positive (and its stock price consequently moved higher), we expect the

Strategic benefits

We believe the most substantial merger benefits to Allied include: 1) An alliance between American Disposal's Rich DeYoung, Steve Lavey, Rich Koegler and others with Allied's management team, 2) eliminating a competitor (from an acquisition and operating perspective), 3) strengthening the balance sheet, and 4) anticipated cost savings, as well.

Transfer of managerial talent.

■ Strong management. We have repeatedly expressed our belief that American Disposal's management team is one of the industry's most effective. In fact, we are slightly disappointed the team will no longer be heading its own company. Discussions with American Disposal management indicate its commitment to combining its combined efforts with Allied. We believe Allied will benefit from American Disposal's managerial abilities.

Direct competitors for acquisitions and volume.

■ Reduced competition. We expected Allied Waste and American Disposal would be the most aggressive acquirers of other mid- and small-cap publicly traded waste companies. These two companies were also direct competitors for many of their private-company acquisition targets. A merger between Allied and American Disposal eliminates this competitive dynamic.

From an operating standpoint, the Chicago market offers the most significant benefit. The merger eliminates competition between the two for landfill volume there. While competition from private companies and other publicly traded companies in Chicago still exists, Allied and American Disposal have significant landfill capacity to serve the Chicago market and had actively been competing against each other. In addition to pricing improvement, we expect significant synergies in the Chicago market.

Debt ratio should drop 10 points.

■ Balance sheet improvement. Allied's debt-to-total-capital ratio of 68% reduces the company's financial flexibility for acquisitions. More importantly, this ratio results in a high debt cost, which is near a 9% average. American Disposal recently completed a secondary equity offering, and the company's June 30 balance sheet was in a net cash position. This reduces Allied's year-end projected debt-to-total-capital ratio to 58%. While this is still at the high end of the industry average, we expect it to reduce Allied's average debt cost. The company indicates it will be reduced by about 25 to 40 basis points.

■ Cost reductions. Management identified $24.5 million in immediate synergies it expects to save. Because of the geographic overlap the companies share, Allied believes 90% of these savings can be achieved in the first 90 days of operating as a combined entity. Table 1 breaks out savings details.

Merger details; price not cheap

Although we believe the merger is a positive for Allied, it did not come cheaply. American Disposal shareholders will receive 1.65 shares of Allied Waste common stock. Allied Waste will issue about 40.7 million shares, resulting in a deal valued at about $1.1 billion, based on Allied's stock price of $26.50 before the deal was announced. Based on a more recent price of $23.86, the deal is valued at about $960 million.

We estimate Allied paid 10.3 times a run-rate EBITDA.

Our September (third) quarter EBITDA estimate for American Disposal is about $20.6 million, producing a run rate of $82 million (giving the company the benefit of using a seasonally strong quarter). Adding the projected $24.5 million in savings results in a total EBITDA run rate of $106.5 million. Using the deal value at the time it was announced, Allied paid 10.3 times a run-rate EBITDA. We believe additional cost reductions, other operating improvements (such as price increases), and additional acquisitions will reduce the effective price paid.

Despite this calculation, based on recent results, American Disposal shareholders will not likely consider this an adequate premium. On July 1, the company's shares reached a high of $46.25. At the time the deal was announced, its shares had dropped to $38.13 (over concerns of reduced internal growth) and the conversion ratio of 1.65 shares resulted in a value of $43.73 per share. Today, American Disposal is trading at $37.88. Our 12-month price target for Allied remains $35 per share, however, which, if reached, results in a value of $57.75 per share for American Disposal shareholders.

Other transaction details include: 1) it will be accounted for as a pooling of interests, 2) it is expected to close in October, and 3) Allied will file for approval under Hart-Scott-Rodino. Although we do not expect any divestitures to be required for the deal to receive approval, we believe the potential exists for required divestiture of a landfill in the extended Chicago market.

Organizational plans

Separate consulting company formed for market development in two regions.

At the deal's closing, the operating teams of the two entities will combine. On the market development side, the arrangement will be different. American Disposal CEO Rich DeYoung (who has a seven-year noncompete agreement), CFO Steve Lavey, and about three others from American Disposal will form a market development consulting firm. The firm is contracted for three years to exclusively focus on acquisitions for Allied's Great Lakes and Midwest regions. About three Allied Waste acquisition personnel will also join the organization. Allied will retain its internal market development team to focus on growth in other regions.

Our reaction to this arrangement is somewhat lukewarm. Our concern centers on the potential exposure Allied could have in three years (or sooner, should there be a contract break) by completely outsourcing market development for two of its major regions with one entity.

Acquisitions: Looking ahead

As a combined entity, Allied is targeting in 1999 acquisitions of tuck-in operations of about $300 million in annual revenue. Our model showed 1999 acquisitions of $300 million and $110 million for Allied and American Disposal, respectively. We have thus reduced our acquisition assumptions for the combined entity. However, we believe these assumptions are very conservative. In addition to smaller acquisitions, we expect Allied to pursue acquisitions of other publicly traded companies which would each add revenue of $150 million to $300 million and are not included in our model. By comparison, Allied's 1998 acquisition goal was $250 million, including Rabanco and American Disposal, its 1996 acquisitions will reach well over $600 million.

Greater internalization, route efficiencies, and improved pricing expected in the Chicago area.

As noted, we expect the company to achieve significant synergies in the Chicago area. Most of American Disposal's corporate office will be eliminated. One individual (Richard Koogler, COO) will become an employee of Allied, about five will become part of the new consulting company and the balance will be eliminated. Some redundant facilities will be closed. Blending both companies' transfer stations (nine) and landfills (seven) should increase the rate of internalization, reducing costs and increasing margins. Route efficiencies should also be realized; 16 routes in the Chicago area are slated for elimination. We also expect improved pricing from the combination.

Missouri now a major foothold.

Combining operations in southern Illinois and Missouri should also bring advantages. It opens four new markets for Allied, which should now have a commanding presence in Missouri. Some redundant facilities will be eliminated and routing efficiencies should be achieved. Internalization is also expected to climb.

Eastern geographies complementary.

Allied's presence along the eastern seaboard is effectively expanded as its operations on Long Island, N.Y., and in Boston are enhanced by American Disposal's presence in Rhode Island and Connecticut. While we don't expect integration benefits, we believe this affords Allied considerable tuck-in and contiguous-market expansion opportunities.
