In response to the questions in your letter dated February 13, 2002 for the Mid-Year report (April 1, 2001 - June 30, 2001) we are submitting the following answers:

Excess contributions: The contribution from Vanda McMurtry in the amount of $10,000 was incorrectly coded for the electronic filing as being a contribution to the federal account when it should have been coded for the non-federal account. The correction has been made.

The contribution for James Haslam, III for $1,000 was incorrectly coded for the electronic filing as a contribution for the federal account when it should have been coded for the non-federal account. The correction has been made.

In as much as these were coding errors, there was no need for transfers to be made.

We had responded to the question of limited administrative expenses in a previous notification via the Form 99.

At this point in time we have requested assistance from our software vendor to assist us in being able to provide the Commission the State, the office sought, and the congressional district if applicable, for each contribution made. We will forward our response in later report.
