This Committee responds to the 4/14/14 RFAI, with response due 05/19/2014, as follows: This Committee exercises its best efforts to report the complete identification of all contributors whose contributions aggregate in excess of $200 in a calendar year. First, this Committee makes a clear and conspicuous request for this information on its website donation platform, which is its only method for soliciting contributions. Contributors regularly include submissions such as "n/a", which the Committee recognizes is not acceptable but leaves in because it is what the contributor entered. Second, contributors who do not provide that information, or who make entries such as "n/a" that are not considered acceptable by the Commission, or who choose to mail contributions in without such information, receive a subsequent request for that information through phone, email, or regular mail that is not itself a solicitation. Third, if and when that information is obtained after the filing of a report, the subject report will be amended. However, no additional information has been received with respect to the subject report as of this date. Further, the committee notes the substantial reticence of conservative donors to provide personal information even when repeatedly asked to a government that actively spies on its citizenry and openly and notoriously targets individual conservatives for abuse and harassment through government action.
