My mind is to soon as I receive a copy of my case pleading filed with the U.S. Government Court's Judge Kees chambers I will target revise my case pleading from myself Inventor Plaintiff against the U.S. Government Divided to revised read myself Inventor Plaintiff against the U.S. Government Divided. Bill Clinton President U.S.A.--. See copy enclosed of letter notice from Judge Kees chambers office.

My invention is a classic also matchless with the praise of two U.S. Government senior engineers who declare in writing my design safety device for new and used cars invention is #1. fit for public use and #2. installed will stop vehicles in happy happy shorter stopping distances shorter than recorded in the California Drivers Handbook.

Dear Mr. Cain:

This is in response to your recent correspondence regarding your invention. A check of the court files shows no case currently pending in which you are a party. We are unable to determine exactly what type of assistance you are seeking from the District Court but have no jurisdiction to act without a case or controversy.

I hope this answers any questions that you may have in regard to this matter.

Sincerely,

SUBJECT: Combining the Brake and Throttle Pedals

Dear Mr. Cairr:

This is to confirm our conversation of September 10 and 11, 1990, concerning your device that combines the brake and throttle pedals. Your letter from Commander Warren Heath, Department of California Highway Patrol, states that it may be marketed without testing or approval by his Department.

Your device could reduce the reaction time of a driver when braking his vehicle. The exact amount of time reduced cannot be determined without empirical testing. I have supplied you with the names of three university professors who may be interested in testing your device.

However, as you have pointed out, there is reluctance by vehicle owners to have their brake pedals radically modified to install your device. Perhaps it would be possible for you to set up a testing/demonstration device as a marketing tool such as they do for shock absorbers.

The City does not do testing or provide consulting services. Therefore, all I can provide is to confirm that the logic of your invention is valid in that the total stopping distances of vehicles could be reduced below that shown in the California Driver's Handbook.

*Latest evidence exhibit that the D.M.V.'s
Driver's Handbook
braking charts are false.*

Dear Reverend Cairr:

We appreciate the opportunity to review the drawing of your dual brake, throttle pedal supplied with your letter of June 1, 1978.

This Department, however, has no funds or resources to assist in development of this device. Our Department does test and approve many devices required by law to be tested and approved; but, your device does not require testing or approval before being sold or offered for sale in this State. Therefore, we will be unable to test it.

Very truly yours,

Warren M. Heath

Note: The above declaration of a new discovery purview law here is in the words of Darrell G. Wilburn where he here says "Thank you for your interest in public safety." He could have said Mr Cain we already have safety in our present braking system." This means the antique older conventional is judged here unsafe outdated.
