We submitted our first campaign finance filing manually by certified mail and courier service prior to the October 15 deadline. However, due to the federal government shutdown, the Federal Election Commission mailroom was closed and our submission has not yet been opened or logged, according to our FEC account contact.

After the shutdown ended last week, we were advised to file electronically. We attempted to do so immediately over the Thanksgiving week, but were unable to complete electronic filing because the FEC software would not download onto Apple computers. We operate exclusively on Apple systems.

I have left a message for Ian at the FEC to ask whether we should re-submit the manual filing by courier.

As our total receipts are under $50,000, the FEC website indicates that our committee is eligible to file manually. We therefore relied on that guidance in sending the filing by mail and courier within the required time frame.

Our first report reflects approximately $6,300 in activity. We are actively seeking an accountant to assist with future filings and ongoing compliance.

We wish to clearly state that our filing was submitted on time, and any delay in processing is solely due to the shutdown and lack of access to electronic filing from Apple systems, not any failure on our part to comply.
