"BEST EFFORT" STATEMENT

When a contribution is received by this campaign, every attempt is made to record it with all pertinent donor information as required by the Federal Election Commission. When any of the information is missing (i.e. occupation, employer, address) the following procedure is used to obtain it:

- If an address or phone number is available a call is immediately placed to the contribution's origin.
- If we are unable to supply the missing information by phone, a postcard is mailed to the address (see sample below) and a response is solicited.
- If we do not receive a response, we try alternate ways of getting the information (sponsors of the event, associates of the donor, etc.).
- If an address is missing from a contribution, direct contact with the bank, by phone or through the mail, is initiated.
- If the reporting period ends and we still have not had a suitable response, the contribution is listed on the FEC report with the word "Best Effort" in place of the missing information.

NOTE: The above procedure is done for all contributions whether or not they meet the minimum aggregate for reporting ($200). Obtaining the missing information for those with an aggregate over the minimum is given precedence over those that haven't reached the limit. Also when itemizing donors with missing information under the limit the phrase "Best Effort" is not included on the report, all though the same effort was made as those with an aggregate over the limit.

Dear Friend:

Thank you again for your contribution to Joe's Congressional campaign.

The Federal Election Commission requires that we keep records for every donor who has contributed over $200 to the campaign. In your case, we do not have any information as to your occupation and employer. Please return this card with the information completed. For employer, indicate 'Self' or 'None,' if not applicable. Thank you very much for your help and support.

Sincerely,

Betty Lonergan
Executive Director
