Re: Request for Additional Information Dated December 15, 2022

Dear Mr. Baisden:

This submission responds to your Request for Additional Information (RAI) dated December 15, 2022, regarding the Prudential Financial Inc. Federal Political Action Committees (AKA Prudential Federal PAC) October Monthly Report. The RAI requested additional information and/or corrective action be taken for two apparent impermissible, excessive or prohibited contributions to Garbarino for Congress and Haley Stevens for Congress.

The contributions in question were originally issued in December, 2021 and disclosed on the Committees Year-End 2021 FEC report. On January 31, 2022, the Committee recorded negative disbursements for these contributions as they were returned by the bank. Corresponding negative disbursements were recorded on January 31, 2022 are disclosed on the M2 2022 February Monthly report. As the year unfolded, the Committee learned that it was experiencing widespread, on-going and intermittent issues with the Committees bank regarding the implementation of positive pay measures which has been instituted as a fraud prevention measure. During the course of reviewing these aforementioned issues, the Committee learned that the two contributions in question were in fact processed by the bank and paid. Therefore, the negative disbursements disclosed on the M2 2022 report were made in error.

The corrective disbursement entries included on the M10 2022 October Monthly report were disclosed in an effort to address previously disclosed negative disbursements that were made in error. This letter summarizes the conversation we had on December 22, 2022 and provides additional context for Garbarino for Congress and Haley Stevens for Congress corrective disbursement entries disclosed on the M10 2022 report.
